

WildCode School's Web Developer Remote Course

Class of 2020

That would be us :D

The website will have two main public targets:

1. Whomever will be interested in the details of such a remote developers course

They can browse this website and go through our reviews and thoughts on the course, check out our learning curve by going through our projects and get a deeper glimpse at our learning tools and interest by shuffling our research videos and links.

2. Us from the future

Three years from now, won't you wanna look back and check out your recepies website? ... I think you might.

Website structure

(doesn't get any simpler than this)

No header - but we will have a sidebar menu to link the pages

Main - scroll down Page

&& The most simple Footer ever

All of the call to action buttons, aside from browsing the page, will redirect to the main WildCourse School webpage.

Main - scroll down page

(matias)

Main full-width image

Short text introducing the class and the content and a first button leading directly to WildCode school courses

A welcoming face and Text

Three similar but alternating divs presenting and calling to action the three pages on our site

A carousel of feedback on the course, from us

And finally, card links to the three courses held by WildCode School and the footer :D
